

HEART ATTACKS SEIZE MRS. ROSIER AT MURDER TRIAL

Collapses in Cellroom on Hearing Inquiries Into Past Life.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 27.—A few minutes after she heard Assistant District Attorney Maurice J. Spieser begin inquiring into her past life, Mrs. Catherine Rosier fainted in the sheriff's cell room today.

Mrs. Rosier was feeding baby Richard when she was seized with a fainting spell at the noon recess. She dropped a bottle of milk and would have let the child fall if her mother, Mrs. Susan M. Reid, had not caught him.

After treatment she was able to resume her seat beside her counsel in the afternoon. Immediately after the adjournment of the afternoon session, at which Spieser subjected her mother to a searching cross-examination as to the defendant's "mental tendencies" as a girl, Mrs. Rosier collapsed again in the cell room. She was taken back to the prison shortly after 5 o'clock in a very unsatisfactory condition.

Suffers Heart Attacks.

Mrs. Rosier, according to the police surgeon, is suffering from valvular heart trouble. The strain upon her during the five days of her trial has been such as to make her very susceptible to an attack. Dr. Brickler said a verdict of guilty might result fatally to the woman. Even an acquittal might have such an effect upon her.

From one of the defense's witnesses, Spieser today elicited testimony that Mrs. Rosier was friendly with Rosier while his first wife was living.

Another witness admitted visiting Mrs. Rosier in Rosier's apartment in Parkside avenue before he and the defendant were married.

Mother's Memory Fails.

The girl's mother, in answer to questions by Spieser as to her daughter's conduct, in many instances asserted she did not remember and in other cases that she did not know.

The mother admitted that she had gone to a society for aiding girls and presented the girl's case to it. She, however, denied that she complained that her daughter at the age of 18 was running around with men and frequenting saloons. She also denied that she had requested a visitor for the society to aid her in forcing a young man whom she suspected of intimacy with her daughter, to marry her.

NEW GOLD STRIKES AT CRIPPLE CREEK

Famous Mining Camp Takes On Life Resembling Boom Days.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Oct. 26.—Old timers of this once famous mining camp are seeing visions of a revival of those prosperous days when this section was the greatest gold producer in the world.

Since 1918 there has been little or no activity, and Cripple Creek, to the outsider, was not Cripple Creek of years ago, when gold was to be found at "grass roots" and money was spent lavishly. The big mines have been closed, but with the discovery of several strikes of rich gold ore recently, pioneers are looking forward to boom days. Many of the old workings are reopening and scores of prospectors are drifting into town. Practically every active mine in the camp is producing gold, and the famous Portland mine, from which millions of dollars' worth of ore has been taken, is reported to have located a large body of ore, samples of which have produced as high as $10,000 a ton at the mill.

News of these strikes has given Cripple Creek a new lease on life.
